Chrysotile Asbestos in natural form

A thorough asbestos survey by an EPA certified inspector is required to identify the location and quantity of asbestos prior to renovation or demolition projects. The Empirical Company's surveys are intended to be a visual and minimally intrusive examination of the property. We identify suspect asbestos and take samples of the suspect material for a laboratory to confirm the presence of asbestos. We also develop a detailed report of our findings including all supporting documents and recommendations.

OUR EXPERIENCE

Our industrial hygienists and technicians have extensive training and field experience in the identification of suspect asbestos containing materials (ACM).

SURVEY

Bulk samples of suspect asbestos-containing materials are collected in accordance with the guidelines as listed in 40 CFR Section 763.85 of AHERA

SAMPLING

The survey is conducted through a visual evaluation, classification and laboratory analysis of suspect asbestos-containing materials (ACBM) that have been used during the construction / remodeling efforts of the subject facility.

REPORT

We develop a detailed report on our visual survey of accessible building materials known or suspected to have contained asbestos fibers.

SUPPORT

We provide Litigation Support by translating highly technical, scientific information into real and practical terms.

We have the ability to interpret technical information to assist the attorney in providing the best legal advise and direction on pursuing or settling litigation issues associated with asbestos and environmental issues.
